Glass Fiber Reinforced Plastic

Your small model in XXL – precise, strong, impressive

Imagine shapes that amaze, surfaces that fascinate, and colors that evoke emotion. With decorative elements made from glass fiber reinforced plastic (GFRP), we don't simply create objects – we create lasting impressions.

GFRP combines seemingly opposite qualities: lightness and strength, flexibility and durability, elegance and resilience. It opens up a world of creative possibilities for exclusive designs that transform spaces, enhance events, and bring architectural visions to life.

From artistic sculptures and intricate ornaments to stylish façade elements and impressive large-scale objects, GFRP makes ideas possible that are difficult to achieve with traditional materials. Weather-resistant, dimensionally stable, and durable, our decorative elements are designed to retain their beauty over time.

From an idea to an XXL creation – we bring big visions to life!

RGB String Lights & Light Tubes

Programmed Lighting Magic That Enchants

It begins with a gentle sparkle, a warm glow in the air – and suddenly an ordinary place is transformed into a world of light. RGB lighting is more than decoration: it creates atmosphere, highlights architecture, and turns outdoor spaces into memorable experiences.

Our lighting concepts range from pathway lighting, façade illumination and tree lighting to spectacular RGB installations for public spaces, shopping centers, hotels, cities, events, gardens and exclusive properties.

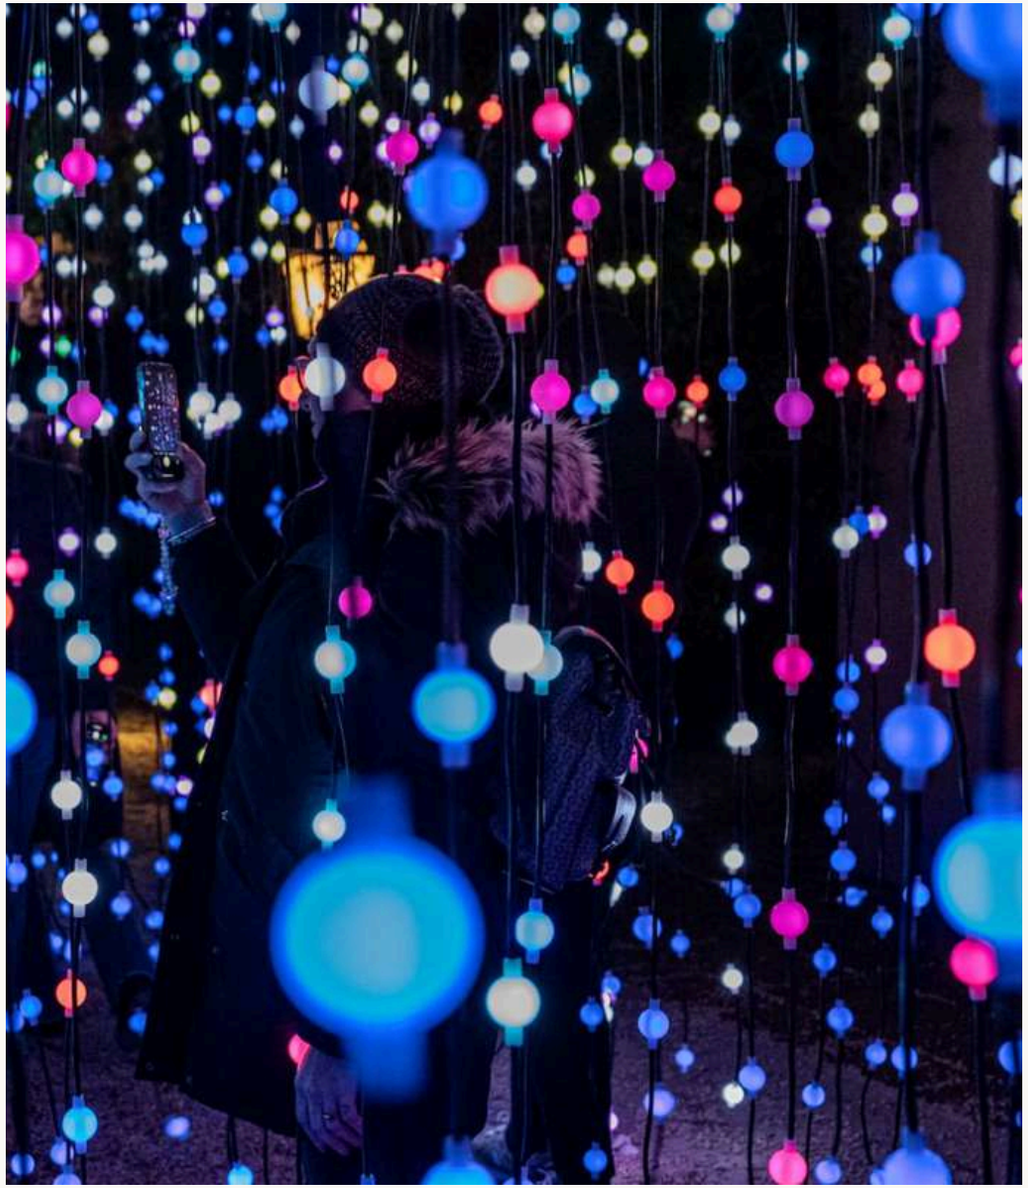

Whether elegant and subtle or bold and spectacular, we use light to guide pathways, emphasize architectural features, illuminate trees and landscapes, and bring public spaces to life after dark.

Many of our installations can also feature programmed lighting sequences and synchronized music, creating immersive experiences that visitors can walk through and enjoy.

Whether for hotels, shopping centers, commercial properties, public spaces, events, or exclusive private properties, we develop customized lighting concepts that combine functionality with impressive design.
